Mutual Life Insurance Company.

To the Homœopathic Profession:

Gentlemen:

THE ATLANTIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY announces as its distinguishing feature, a reduction of premiums for insurance to practical homœopaths. This reduction is believed, from reliable data, but simple justice to the class to which it refers, assuming that the immense superiority of the homœopathic system over other systems, as shown from these data, does result in a considerably increased longevity for its patrons. Taking this feature as the basis, chiefly, of success, the agents of this Company, must of necessity, in the prosecution of their business be active advocates of your system of medicine, in disseminating information among people of all classes, and by all proper means inducing a liberal and just judgment in the popular mind, that shall result in a suitable and practicable recognition of the claims of homœopathy.

Aside from this leading feature of

A Ten per cent. Deduction to Practical Homœopathists,

The "ATLANTIC" combines all that is desirable in a Life Insurance Company. The following, among their additional specialties, are deemed worthy of attention:

1st. By a special enactment of the Legislature, (see laws of 1867,) the ATLANTIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY "are permitted to issue policies, certified by the Superintendent of the Insurance Department, as 'secured by pledge of public stocks,' "thus enabling them to offer, virtually, the same security as is now given for the redemption of our National Bank Currency."

2d. MUTUALITY: Holders of Policies are permitted to vote for Trustees. They are also entitled to all the profits, except the small portion required for Retirement of the Capital Stock.

3d. ANNUAL DIVIDENDS: Division of surplus made annually. Each dividend so declared to be redeemed at the end of three years.

4th. ALL POLICIES INDISPUTABLE, by their terms, at the expiration of seven years, against error or fraud in the original application.

5th. ALL POLICIES are NON-FORFEITABLE.

6th. NO CHARGE ALLOWED to be made for Policy or Stamp.

7th. NO EXTRA CHARGE on travel to Europe or California.

8th. PROMPT PAYMENT OF LOSSES: All Policies, by their terms, payable IMMEDIATELY upon proof of loss being furnished.

For Blanks or Agencies apply to

Announcement.

The Board of Trustees of the Homœopathic Medical College of Pennsylvania, in issuing their Annual Announcement, refer, with great satisfaction, to the evidences of its increasing prosperity.

Under a new and more liberal Charter, including a Charter for a Hospital, obtained from the Legislature in 1864, the College was re-organized, and so announced itself. As a legal corporation, the present organization is, of course, not older than the Charter under which it was organized. But we regard the Homœopathic College, under its different Charters, legally organized corporations and individual teachers, as in a medical, although not in a legal, point of view, the same Institution.

Hence, all those who have been engaged as teachers in this Medical School and as physicians in its hospitals and dispensaries, as well as all those who have here graduated in Medicine, are still the friends and supporters of the Institution in which they have respectively taught and practiced and studied. And with the present Announcement, we publish a complete catalogue of the College, including the names of those who were the original Professors, and of all who have graduated here. The number of graduates of this school will be found to exceed that of the entire Homœopathic profession in Great Britain; while, among the names, will be found those of many who have distinguished themselves in the Homœopathic world.

The Matriculating and the Graduating Classes of the Session of 1866-67, were larger than those of the year preceding. And there will be observed, among the lists of the attendants upon the College lectures, the names of many who had already graduated in other Medical Schools. Not a few of these physicians are known to have left important fields of labor, at a very considerable present pecuniary sacrifice to themselves, in order to review their former studies and make themselves better acquainted with the principles and practice of pure Homœopathy.

The Faculty of the College will continue, as hitherto, to teach Homœopathy in its simplicity and purity, its principles and its practice; and the Hahnemannian Monthly will continue to represent the doctrines taught in the School. No pains will be spared, and no means unsupplied, to impart to the students a thorough medical education; and every advantage will be afforded to enable them to become truly practical, scientific, and successful physicians.

A physician and surgeon of ripe judgment and much experience, Professor Foote, will teach, by precept and example, the Science and the Art of Homœopathic, Conservative, and Operative Surgery; and in this department afford to the students of the College advantages superior to those to be found in any other medical school in the city.

A Surgeon of long experience in the Regular Army of the United States, will co-operate with Professor Foote, both in the theoretical and in the operative branches of his department.

Arrangements have been made, by which unusual opportunities for the study of Operative Surgery and Practical Anatomy will be furnished; and the expense of prosecuting the study of Practical Anatomy, it is expected, will be rendered much less than before.

As heretofore, the great aim of the Faculty will be to teach, in the most thorough manner, all the collateral branches of a complete Medical Education; and, at the same time, to explain and illustrate sound Homœopathic principles, and their application to all the various departments of the Practice of Medicine, Surgery, and Obstetrics.

The Hospitals, the Dispensary, and the daily Clinics, attended by a great number of patients, afford to the Classes ample opportunities for the study of the various forms of disease, and also for ocular illustration of the Homœopathic law of cure.

The hours reserved for the medical and surgical clinics are so arranged, as to permit the students to be also present at those held at the Pennsylvania and Philadelphia Hospitals, which latter Hospital is attended without charge.

The Surgical and Medical Clinics will open on the First of September. Should application be made, the Anatomical Rooms will also be opened on the First of September.

The Introductory Address will be delivered by Professor W. L. Arrowsmith, on the evening of the second Monday in October; and the Course of Lectures will begin at nine o'clock the next morning.

The Janitor can always be found at the College, prepared to give to the Students the information which they may require relative to board, &c.,

ALFRED R. POTTER,

President.

HENRY E. KEENE.

Secretary.

Regulations of the College.

The Course of Lectures will begin annually on the second Monday in October, and end about the 1st of March ensuing.

The Fee for the course of lectures must be paid to the Dean, on matriculating, who will give the Matriculant the Full Ticket of the entire Faculty.

To constitute a full course, the Full Ticket must be taken by the first Monday in November, except in special cases.

Students who have attended two full courses of instruction in this institution, shall be admitted to the subsequent courses of the College without further charge.

The faculty shall have authority to consider and decide upon cases of special application for admission to the lectures.

Students may become candidates for Graduation who have attended two full courses of instruction in this institution; or one course only, in case they have attended one or more full courses in another respectable Medical College, or are graduates of other Medical Schools.

A candidate for graduation must be at least twenty-one years of age, of good moral character, possessed of sufficient preliminary education, have applied himself to the study of medicine for three years, and have been the private pupil, for two years, of a respectable practitioner of medicine; and must have attended at least one course of Practical Anatomy.

The candidate, when applying for examination, must first exhibit his tickets to the Dean of the Faculty, or give other satisfactory evidence of having complied with the regulations.

He must, on or before the 1st of February, deliver to the Dean of the Faculty an Essay or Thesis, in his own hand-writing, composed by himself, on some medical subject. At which time he will pay the fee of graduation.

The Essay must be written on Thesis Paper, of uniform size, every alternate page being blank.

The Examinations for graduation will begin about the last of February, and the Commencement for conferring the Degrees of the College will be held by a Special Mandamus of the Board of Trustees, as soon after the close of the lectures as practicable.

The examinations will be conducted in private by each Professor, and the voting, in the case of every candidate, shall be by ballot.

Special examinations may, with the consent of the Faculty, be held in particular cases.

In unsatisfactory cases, the candidate may, with the consent of the Faculty, avail himself of a second examination before the whole Faculty.

Formal notice of each satisfactory examination shall be given by the Dean to the successful candidate, who shall record his name and address upon the register of graduates, with the title of his Thesis.

The names of the successful candidates are to be reported by the Dean to the President of the College, who will communicate such report to the Board of Trustees, in order, that if approved by them, their mandamus may be issued for conferring the degree.

A successful candidate shall not be absent from the Commencement, without the permission of the Faculty.

A Thesis may be published by the candidate, permission of the Faculty being first obtained.

Original Organization of the College.

The Faculty of the Homœopathic College at its organization in the Fall of 1848, was composed as follows:—

JACOB JEANES, M. D., Professor of the Principles and Practice of Medicine.

CALEB B. MATTHEWS, M. D., Professor of Materia Medica.

WALTER WILLIAMSON, M. D., Professor of Midwifery, and Diseases of Women and Children.

FRANCIS SIMS, M. D., Professor of Surgery.

SAMUEL FREEDLEY, M. D., Professor of Botany.

MATTHEW SEMPLE, M. D., Professor of Chemistry.

WILLIAM A. GARDINER, M. D., Professor of Anatomy.

ALVAN E. SMALL, M. D., Professor of Physiology and Pathology.

At the Second Session, 1849 and 1850, WM. S. HELMUTH, M. D., became Professor of Institutes and Practice of Medicine, upon the resignation of Dr. Jeanes.

CHARLES NEIDHARD, M. D., became Professor of Clinical Medicine.

During the Third Session, 1850 and 1851, the Faculty was still the same. Professor Matthews deceased in May, 1851.

WALTER WILLIAMSON, M. D., became Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics at the Fourth Session, 1851 and 1852.

JOSEPH G. LOOMIS, M. D., became Professor of Obstetrics, and Diseases of Women and Children.

Want of the requisite data, and of space, renders it impossible to publish here a record of the numerous changes that subsequently occurred among the Teachers in the Homœopathic College.

THE THIRD VOLUME OF THE HAHNEMANNIAN MONTHLY,

Conducted and published by the Faculty of the Homœopathic Medical College of Pennsylvania, commences August, 1866.

The objects sought to be obtained in establishing a new Homœopathic Periodical, may be briefly stated as follows:

I. To disseminate, to advocate, and to defend, in their simplicity and purity, the great Homœopathic principles of the Law of the Similars, the Single Remedy, and the Dynamized Medicine.

II. The development and improvement of the Materia Medica, by the publication of Provings, and by recording the results of clinical experience with single remedies, in cases illustrative of the Homœopathic Law.

III. To promote the best interests of Medical Education and of Homœopathy itself, by elevating the standard of our Schools; and by advocating pure Hahnemannianism.

IV. To establish and confirm in the Homœopathic Faith, its enlightened and intelligent friends and supporters, by making them better acquainted with the principles and the practice of our Science and our Art.

The Hahnemannian Monthly will secure for the benefit of the Profession and of the community, much valuable material in elucidation of the Materia Medica, which might otherwise be irretrievably lost.

The current Medical Literature of the day, Homœopathic and Allopathic, will be carefully noted; that the readers of the Monthly may have the benefit of every thing new and important in Medical Science.

Important Medical and Scientific Works will be reviewed; and every effort made to render the Monthly in the highest degree practically useful to the Profession.

Believing freedom of discussion essential to the development of the truth, we shall exclude no good Article because it may not accord with our own views; each writer being alone considered responsible for his own Articles.

The Hahnemannian Monthly will be published in octavo form; each number to contain forty-eight pages, similar in size and general appearance, to the First Volume.

Price $3.00, invariably in advance.
